T R E N D R E P O R T

While looking at the looks in the Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows, I noticed a lot of reoccurring trends. Some of the trends included Knitwear, Cream Colors, Oversized Clothing, Pops of Color and Patterns. Most of the outfits were accessorized with a purse. Most of the models' hair was worn naturally or slicked back with natural makeup or heavy eyeshadow. I wanted to incorporate these trends into street style looks. I took these trends and made them into outfits that you could wear on an every day basis.

Knitwear was a popular garment in Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows.

Christian Dior and Off-White incorporated it into their looks.

Knit wear is in style every year during the fall and winter months.

Oversized clothing was a popular garment in Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows.

Off-White had a lot of oversized jackets on their runway.

Oversized jackets have been popular garments for a few years now and am not surprised that they are in style for the upcoming fall and winter months.

This cream color was popular in the Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows.

It is a neutral color and can go with a lot of garments for the upcoming fall and winter months.

Pops of color were a popular garment in Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows.

Chanel and Off-White incorporated these colors into their runway shows.

People usually stick to less bright colors in fall and winter months. But that is not the case for 2021-2022.

Patterns were popular in the Autumn/Winter 21-22 runway shows.

Louis Vuitton incorporated them in all of their runway pieces.

Patterns will never go out of style and I expect to see a lot of them in the upcoming fall and winter months.

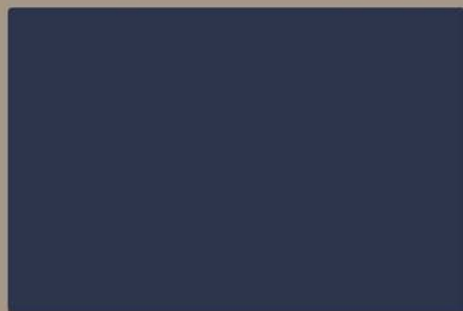

Cute & Cozy

My lookbook is full outfits that have a cute but cozy vibe. I wanted these outfits to be street wear and have a model off duty look. These are outfits that you would wear on a normal day.

But I added some accessories and incorporated the upcoming trends from the Autumn/Winter 21-22 run way shows. This includes oversized jackets, knitwear, patterns, pops of color, etc.
